ADMINISTRATION IS ATTEMPTING TO SHOW U.S. RELIEF ABILITY

KRUG REPORT ASSERTS VAST PLAN POSSIBLE; SOME OPPOSITION DUE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The Truman administration marshalled a vast array of figures today designed to prove to congress and the nation that this country can export the food, fuel and machinery Western Europe is seeking for its proposed recovery program.

A report from Secretary of the Interior Krug, released by the White House, stated emphasically that the United States will be able to deliver the goods for a $20,000,000,000 aid program without impering American resources.

Some shortages will result, "but it is impossible to make a case that the proposed aid program will have a serious impact upon our economy," Krug said. "From the standpoint of day-to-day drain, the export program is just not consequential."

Some Controls Needed.

Krug, asserted, however, that to assure success of the undertaking this country must save grain, retain export controls to make certain shipments reach the most needy countries and gear production and transportation facilities to a high rate.

On Capitol Hill, Republicans generally adopted a let's-hear-more attitude, but Senator Pepper (D-Fla) criticized the report as a "nibbling" approach.

Pepper told reporters he thinks the summary makes the "timid" assumption that only such help will be extended to Western Europe as will not "inconvenience" the American people.

"That is only nibbling at the

DE GAULLE PARTY IS FRENCH VOTE VICTOR; RED STRENGTH SAME

PARIS, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Candidates nominated by Gen. Charles De Gaulle's six-months-old rally of the French People (RPF) were leading in 29 out of 37 major municipalities today as returns from yesterday's balloting rolled in from all over France.

De Gaulle's party held a substantial lead over all other parties, including the Communists, in the early returns.

"There's no doubt about it, De Gaulle has won," said Maurice Schaum, parliamentary leader of the Popular Republican Movement (MPR) which lost ground heavily in yesterday's voting. De Gaulle's RPF, although leading the communists, did not appear to have dented Communist voting strength in any substantial amount.

HUGE COTTON CROP IS BEING GATHERED IN NAVARRO COUNTY

EXPECTED TO PUT SEVEN MILLION DOLLARS IN FARMERS' POCKETS

A total of 20,157 bales of the 1947 cotton crop had been ginned in Navarro county prior to Oct 1, according to an announcement by George Campbell, special agent, as compared with 10,904 bales on the same date in 1946.

Navarro county's cotton crop is expected to approximate 45,000 bales this year, and based on current prices, is expected to produce $7,000,000 for 1947 in the event that the weather conditions continue to be favorable until the harvest is completed.

The 1946 cotton crop approximated 28,000 bales.

Increase in Acreage.

The 1947 acreage was increased over that of last year and the yield is improved over that of 1946.

Thousands of additional cotton pickers could be used to advantage in Navarro county fields this week. The fields are white in all sections with the production high in all areas, black or mixed and sandy soils. Some young cotton was cut short by drouth conditions and poor stands are noted in certain fields, abut these are more than off-set by the absence of extensive insect inroads and depredations. Poison was administered in numerous instances.

Bringing Good Price.

The cotton is bringing an average of 30 cents per lint pound. Cottonseed is bringing the farmer $85 per ton. The lint bale brings an average of $150 at 30 cents. The cottonseed amounts to 850 pounds per bale—$36.10 or an average of 186.15 per bale gross.

Ginning averages $8 per bale,

Reds Demand U.N. Reverse Panel, Oust Troops From Greece

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Russia formally demanded today that the United Nations Assembly reverse a decision of the 57-nation political committee and order United States and British military personnel out of Greece.

The new Soviet demand came as Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Andrei Y. Vishinsky prepared to begin a last-ditch fight against formal creation of an American-sponsored U. N. border watch in the Balkans.

On Today's Calendar.

The Russian proposal to revive the already defeated Soviet resolution was submitted in a letter to Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, assembly president, asking that the question be placed on today's calendar for the plenary sessions at Flushing Meadow Park.

A Soviet source said Vishinsky expected to speak for about an hour and forty minutes on the Greek-Balkan issue.

Revival of the original Soviet move to blame the Balkan troubles on the United States and Britain, and Russia's fight against the "watchdog" committee foreshadowed a double Soviet defeat.

As a prelude to the Greek debate, which may spill over into mid-week members were to take another ballot in efforts to break the deadlock between India and the Soviet Ukraine over Poland's expiring seat on the security council. Nine previous ballots have failed to give either one a two-thirds majority and there were no advance indications that today's vote would settle the issue.

Russia has suffered three major setbacks in committees in attempting to lay the blame for the Greek border troubles on the Greek government and "foreign interference" and absolve Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria. These were:

Three Actions Listed.

1—The 57-nation political committee approved an American resolution, 36 to 6, with the Soviet bloc only in opposition, to set up the watchdog commission and mildly condemn the three Soviet satellites. The assembly must now take final action on the proposal.

2—The political committee rejected 40 to 6, with only the Soviet bloc in support, the counter resolution calling for evacuation of foreign troops and a U. N. commission to supervise economic aid to Greece such as provided under the Truman program. Poland now has re-introduced it in modified form.

3—The 57-nation budgetary committee rejected 31 to 6 a Russian move to bar U. N. funds for the proposed investigating commission. That committee voted $611,400 for the commission with the same opposition.

U.N. FAILS TO BREAK DEADLOCK ON ELECTION OF NEW MEMBER TO VACANT SECURITY COUNCIL SEAT

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The United Nations Assembly failed today in a new effort to break the three-week deadlock between India and the Soviet Ukraine in the contest for the Security Council seat which Poland will vacate Dec. 31.

Today's first ballot, the tenth since the contest began Sept. 30, gave the Ukraine 29 and India 24. A two-thirds majority of those present and voting—35 votes—was necessary for election.

The ninth ballot on Oct. 1 gave the Ukraine 32 and India 24.

On a second attempt, the 11th ballot, the vote was:

The Ukraine 30, India 25.

Dr. Oswaldo Aranha of Brazil, assembly president, then postponed further voting on this contest.

The assembly turned to the election of two new members to the trusteeship council.

Council Debate Delayed.

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The United Nations Security Council postponed debate on the Dutch-Indonesian conflict today at the request of Andrei A. Gromyko so that he could attend a plenary session of the general assembly in an adjoining chamber.

The Russian delegate said he would be willing to have the council meet in night sessions "or at any time when the assembly is not meeting."

Army Recruiting Hiked.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—By recruiting 10,978 men in September, the navy came within two-tenths of 1 percent of reaching its quota for the month.

Rear Admiral T. L. Sprague, chief of naval personnel, said today the August quota fell 23.5 percent short when only 11,511 were signed up.

Latest Thing in Millinery For Women Is Lampshade Hats With Insides All Lit Up

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Latest thing in millinery for Douglas women are lampshade hats equipped with battery-powered lights to show off desert scenes painted on the chapeaux.

Lampshades illustrating hand-painted scenes of Arizona form the basic structure. The trimming is of ribbon, flowers or fringe and the shapes vary from pill boxes to conical. Inside the top of the hat is a battery which powers a light that illuminates the hat when a button is pressed.

The effect? Well, just wait until you see your dream walking—with her lights on.

OTHER DOCTORS TELL JURY ROSS "INSANE" ON SHOOTING DATE

DEFENSE PRESENTING TESTIMONY TO SHOW CONDITION UNSTABLE

LAGRANGE, Oct. 20.—(AP)—The office nurse of Dr. Lloyd I. Ross, on trial for murder, testifed in his defense today that he acted "crazy" at least two weeks before Willard York and his family were slain, and would cry frequently in his office.

The nurse, Mrs. H. B. Espy, whose professional name was Grace Hagins, said that the surgeon would "change his socks and wash his face frequently" between patients at his office in the Medical Arts Building in San Antonio.

BY TOM STONE

LAGRANGE, Texas, Oct. 20.—(AP)—One of three doctors testifying today in the defense of Dr. Lloyd I. Ross declared that the young San Antonio surgeon's mental condition "was breaking down like a bad battery in your automobile" shortly before May 25.

Dr. Ross is charged with the rifle deaths of four people on a country road in Comal county on that date.

Dr. Edward Cayo of San Antonio presented that description of the defendant in a morning session as the defense continued to call witnesses to the stand in an effort to prove that the Ohio-born doctor was insane on the day of the shooting.

"Change" Noted.

He said that Ross was a surgeon of "above average" class, but that several months ago, before the roadside slayings, he noticed a "surprising change."

Defense Attorney Fred Blundell asked if he thought Ross was insane May 25.

"He was very definitely insane," replied Cayo, who served with the

DANCER'S TRIAL FOR MURDER IN HAVANA IS AGAIN DELAYED

HAVANA, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Venerable Judge Cristobal More postponed the murder trial of sobbing Patricia (Satira) Schmidt today until Oct. 31 because none of a long list of witnesses appeared for the hearing.

The Toledo, Ohio, dancer, accused of fatally shooting her lover, John Lester Mee of Chicago, last April aboard the yacht Satira, wept and exclaimed:

"Until Oct. 31!"

100 Witnesses Summoned.

Nearly 100 witnesses had been summoned by the defense and prosecution. Their absence was not explained.

Charles Jackson of River Forest, Ill., who was aboard the yacht when the girl shot Mee through the neck, was placed on the stand when court convened this morning to resume his story interrupted by the weekend recess. His lawyer, Israel Soto Barroso, failed to appear in court and Jackson adamantly refused to answer questions

ATTEMPTED BURGLARY OF BANK AT ROSEBUD APPARENTLY FAILURE

WATCHMAN IS ATTACKED, POLICE REPORT, BUT SAFE IS NOT OPENED

MARLIN, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Two men early today slugged a night watchman and attempted to burglarize the Planters National Bank of Rosebud, 25 miles southeast of here, but apparently were frightened away before they could gain entrance to the vault.

The combination and other mechanism on the vault door were battered and damaged to the extent that bank officials could not open it this morning. A crowbar was left behind by the burglars.

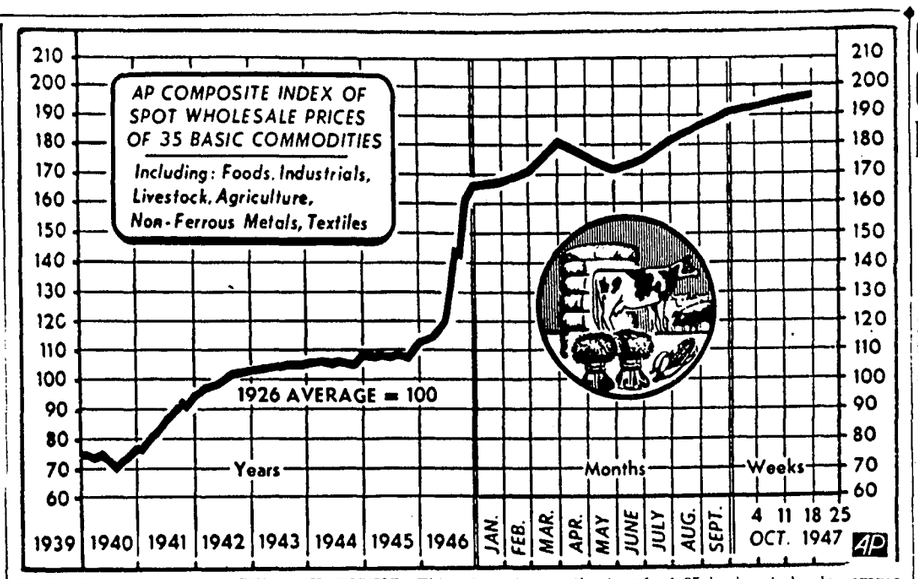

The First National Bank of Rosebud loaned the Planters Bank funds to carry on business until the Planters' vault could be opened.

One Wears Mask.

Nightwatchman Arnold Muldrow said he was sitting in a downtown office when men slipped up from behind and slugged him. One was describedd as having been masked.

Muldrow gave the time as about 2 a. m. He was bound by the men, but managed to free himself 15 minutes later and telephoned officers. Muldrow was not seriously hurt and joined officers in their investigation.

The men gained entrance to the bank through the front. Officers believed they were frightened away by a telephone operator who turned off the lights in the telephone exchange, located across the street from the bank, when she thought she saw lights flashing in the bank.

Corsicana Standard Of Living Found Higher Than Most

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(Spl.)—How much does the average Corsicana resident spend each year? Where does he spend it—and for what?

Answers to these questions, contained in the current Sales Management Survey, point to a higher standard of living in Corsicana than in most of the cities of the nation.

Expenditure in the local retail stores totaled $17,402,000, a sharp increase over the previous year's $12,777,000. This is equivalent to spending at the rate of $919 per person, as compared with the United States average of $692, the West South Central states' $531, and Texas' $602.

Food purchases, a principal index of living standards, accounted for most of each dollar

Bermuda Is Lashed By Wind, Tide As Hurricane Passes

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Winds estimated at 90 miles an hour beat against Bermuda and churned heavy seas today as the center of a tropical hurricane moved north, 75 miles off the British colony. Some gusts reached 100 m.p.h.

The hurricane was expected to come within 50 miles of Bermuda before continuing out to sea. No casualties were reported.

Telephone and electric wires were downed by torrential rain accompanying the wind. Palms and cedars bent to the gale, depositing many of their branches in the streets. Many workmen were unable to reach their jobs.

The yacht Zephyr, which won the last race in the Amorita Cup series last season, was dismasted at its anchorage in the Royal Bermuda Yacht Club.

CRASH SURVIVORS GOING HOME

BOSTON, Oct. 20—(AP)—Back again on the land they never expected to reach, 69 survivors of the ill-fated Bermuda Sky Queen headed for their homes today as the Civil Aeronautics Board prepared an all out investigation of the near-disaster in the mountainous North Atlantic.

The Coast Guard Cutter Bibb, which wrote maritime history in effecting the rescue of every man, woman and child on the plane which was ditched 800 miles off Newfoundland last Tuesday because of a gasoline shortage, brought the Sky Queen's erstwhile passengers to Boston yesterday.

The 1,600 mile run from "Station Charlie", the Coast Guard code for its weather station where the flying boat came down, ended in one of the wildest demonstrations since the first troopship came home from the recent war.

COMMUNISTS SEEK CONTROL OF UNIONS, PRODUCER WOOD SAYS

SOME "UN-AMERICAN" MOVIE WORKERS ARE ADMITTED BY WARNER

WASHINGTON, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Sam Wood, veteran Hollywood producer and director, said today "a tight, disciplined group of Communist party members and party liners" is seeking to gain control of unions and guilds in the movie capital.

He made this assertion in a statement given reporters as he took the witness stand at the inquiry by the house committee on un-American activities as to Communist activities in Hollywood.

Before Wood was called, Jack L. Warner of Warner Brothers had testified that people "with un-American leaning" have infiltrated the movie industry. But Warner declined under questionisg to say these people are Communists.

The producers were the initial witnesses as the committee opened hearings which may continue for three weeks. Spectators filled the 400-seat house caucus room and movie lights of news reel cameramen flooded the scene.

But he carefully declined to say under questioning from committee members that these people are Communists and insiseed on using the description "un-American."

And he said he does not believe anyone in Hollywood has advocated overthrow of the United States government by force or violence.

He testified before a packed audince in the house caucus room. Movie lights, set up for newsreel cameramen, cast a glare over the whole scene.

PETRILLO'S DECISION TO HALT RECORDINGS AFTER DEC. 31 EYED

CHICAGO, Oct. 20—(AP)—James C. Petrillo's newest edict, banning again the making of recordings by his 225,000 AFL musicians after December 31, was being measureed from all angles today for the shape of things to come in the radio and entertainment fields.

The head of the American Federation of Musicians issued the new directive Saturday, declaring that the members of the union were "destroying themselves" by supplying their own competition in the form of recordings.

"There will never be any more phonograph records or transcriptions made by members of the Musicians' Union," he said, adding that "unless a (radio) program has live music to offer, there won't be any music."

The order was received in various segments of the radio-recording industry with mixed feelings.

SOUTHERN GOVERNORS HEAR JESTER ATTACK TIDELANDS DECISION

TEXAS EXECUTIVE ASKS MEETING TO JOIN FIGHT FOR STATE OWNERSHIP

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Gov. Beauford H. Jester of Texas today warned the Southern Conference of Governors that the United States supreme court's refusal to reconsider the California tidelands case tightened the "strangling loop of super-federal control at the throats of 'mere property owners,' the sovereign states of the Union."

Jester called on the conference to join in the fight to urge congress and the president to "restate and reaffirm our government's nation-old policy and rule of law which is undermined by the supreme court decision."

"Nationalization" Seen.

"This case will, no doubt, become a potent weapon for proponents of the nationalization of the entire oil and gas industry as well as other vital natural resources and industries," the Texas governor said in a speech prepared for delivery to the group.

He predicted that the leadership of the nation's two major political parties will likely have to come out in the open on the issue.

"I hope our Democratic leadership will stand upon the constitution and the nation-old rule of law on this question," said the Texas governor who has been spearheading a national campaign on issues raised by the California case decision.

BREADBOX TEMPEST

It would be well if all misunderstandings about method could be so easily ironed out as that between Truman and Anderson about food saving. Anderson said, in effect, that his hasty statement was not meant quite as it sounded. Both men were right. Truman in saying the meatless days would save grain, Anderson in saying that the value of the "days" was largely symbolic. Sunday is marked as the church-going day, a symbol of worship. Meatless days become symbolic of saving.

It might be well to consider the example of our friends the Catholics who have been going without meat one day a week for generations. They regard it is good for the body to abstain from meat one day in seven; good for the whole character to be able to maintain a steady habit of self-control; and they value highly the symbolism of doing it on Friday, that His followers may never forget that on that day Christ died for man.

Certain things are to be expected under such circumstances as those of the present. People unwilling to make any sacrifice and people lying in wait for every move out of which they may make political capital will make loud and unpleasant noises over the proposed saving of food. They give every reason why not.

Quite and decent people will make their savings quietly, glad to have a definite means of helping hungry neighbors abroad. If it better fits their family plans and budgets to make the savings on other days or in other ways, they will do so, but their savings will be real and useful. Enough grain may be saved by them to add to that already earmarked for shipment so that the total may be sufficient.

PREVENTING FIRES

Nobody except the arsonist enjoys a fire. Yet most blazes are completely unnecessary and originate with someone's carelessness. The fire rate in the United States is the highest in the world. According to the National Board of Fire Underwriters there are 830,000 fires every year, or almost 16,000 each week in this country. The resulting property damage, leaving out human lives sacrificed, amounts to 600 million dollars annually.

The public has been made especially fire-conscience by a well-publicized Fire Preventiton Week just ended. These specially designated weeks offer good opportunities for calling attention to worthwhile causes. The originators of Fire Prevention Week hope it will be observed the other 51 weeks.

TIT FOR TAT

The good nature and patience of Uncle Sam can be tried too far. Last week he failed to invite any Russians to the ordnance show of new army weapons at the Aberdeen proving grounds in Maryland. Likewise no Poles or Yugoslavs were asked to the demonstration of the firing rocket-assisted, armour-piercing and similar examples of art.

The Army department omitted the Russians and their satellites from their guest list because Russia does not let Americans see similar shows in Russia. Last year at a like program Soviet officials as well as representatives of Tass, the Russian news agency, were present.

This years' omission of Russians is the direct result of Moscow's refusal to admit to the USSR members of the touring Congressional appropriations committee and five government officials. Furthermore, the number of visiting Russians in this country, about 800, while only 100 Americans are in the Soviet land, is to be limited.

It is a deplorable situation. What both Russia and Americans need is greater understanding of each other, greater mutual knowledge of national traditions, aims and culture. Only through acquaintance can mistrust be eliminated. Yet the United States would be "played for a sucker," if it were to continue offering hospitality to Russian rebuffs. After all, this country cannot fling its friendship forever at an unwilling Soviet heirarchy. Goodwill needs to be mutual.

FROST

Frost, the killer, struck last night!
Black the dahlias stand,
All things lovely, red and white,
Fell beneath their hand.

Blind to everything that grows
Killer Frost must be.
If for mercy begged a rose,
Deaf to it was he.

Had he pity? It is plain
None he chose to spare,
Leaving in his ghastly train
Dead things everywhere.

All need faith when Frost arrives,
Ending summer's reign,
To believe the rose survives—
Soon to bloom again.

ONE PARADISE

In the midst of all the world's crushing problems, it is pleasant to think there is one spot that still calls itself a paradise. This is the little island of Barbados, 21 miles long and 14 miles wide, set out in the Caribbean sea. Surrounded by the ocean that is rainbow-hued here, the island shines like a green and white gem. Its acres of sugar cane, many of the plantations 300 years old, provide the green, and its fine bathing beaches frame it with white sand. Pounded coral makes its roads which are never far from sight of its harbors filled with schooners and sailing ships from West Indian and South American ports.

Barbados has been British since the first white settlers came here from England in 1627. Its biggest city, Bridgetown, with 15,000 inhabitants, is still a bit of old England.

All of this, thanks to modern air transportation, is only 13 flying hours from New York City, though it is more than 2,100 miles away.

Queer, isn't it, how these once almost unknown corners of the world are coming to be week-end vacation jaunts from America? Whether one really ever gets there or not, it's a comfort to feel that paradise is not so terribly far away after all.

POLITICAL CONVENTIONS

Politicians have their faults, but any city would be glad to get their national convention. The proof is the money cities raise to attract the conventions. Philadelphia, which has already secured the 1948 Republican gathering by paying the party $200,000, is trying to get the Democrats on the same terms, and expects to raise the necessary funds by the end of October.

After all, delegates to political conventions do not, like some others, stop traffic by shooting craps in the middle of the cartracks, nor do they drop paper bags filled with water on unsuspecting passers-by. Perhaps what they plan in the little smoke-filled rooms may be worse for the body politic in the long run, but it doesn't feel so uncomfortable at the moment.

UNFORGOTTEN IRVING

"Who reads an American book? This challenge by the British early 19th century wit, Sydney Smith, has long ceased to have meaning. Everybody in the world who can read, reads American books. But it took some time to form the habit.

Almost the first American author to be popular abroad has just been commemorated by having his home at Tarrytown, N. Y., restored and thrown open to the public, through the generosity of John D. Rockefeller. This writer was Washington Irving, story-teller, essayist and historian, now not much more than a name to most Americans. Yet his "Alhambra" and "Knickerbocker's History of New York" still have as much charm as ever. Curiously enough his best-known works are two he must have considered trifles, "The Legend of Sleepy Hollow," the tale of the headless horseman who terrified the schoolmaster Ichabod Crane, and the immortal "Rip Van Winkle."

As one of our first great writers, Irving deserves his shrine. And it should not be forgotten that this elegant writer and lover of good living did not disdain politics—believe it or not—on the ticket of Tammany Hall.

PARTY VALUES

"I've never belonged to a political party for more than 15 minutes," the late Mayor Fiorello H. LaGuardia of New York once told John Gunther.

"The parties never ask you to do anything which is right and which you're going to do anyway! What they want you to do is all the things that are wrong."

Any officeholder in a small town would find this just as true as did the mayor of America's largest city. Most of them have already learned it. Parties do have certain values, but they are in reality merely tools for putting over ideas.

If the citizen will keep his thinking straight, know what he wants, will shoot at high standards of government, he can get good things accomplished in his community, his state, his nation and the world. If he follows party dictates without doing any thinking for himself, he becomes an easy mark for graft and trickery.

EYES THAT SEE NOT

There is always the chance that the chairman of the House appropriations committee, John Taber of New York State, has been misquoted. For Representative Tabor's sake one hopes this is the case after reading his statement from Berlin that he had seen no evidence that Europeans were underfed, or in great distress. Tabor also has visited Istanbul, Ankara, Vienna, Rome, Trieste and Athens, as his part in the Congressional inspection tour of foreign lands now under way.

Mr. Tabor added that the people of Europe were not working as hard as they should, while Americans are working vigorously, making great sacrifices to try to help Europeans. Perhaps the most discouraging statement of all attributed to the New Yorker is that nothing he had seen has caused him to change the opinion he held when he left America last month. Does he mean that he has learned nothing?

It seems too bad to waste the money of the American taxpayer on travel so superficial. The Cleveland Plain Dealer refers to Mr. Taber's trip as "a gnat's view." The gnat flits about hither and yon, covering a good deal of ground—or air—in a day. But its view is probably neither very intelligent or penetrating.

PROFITS HIGHER

Is it true that rising costs, especially in wages, have not cut into profits? The Federal Reserve Bulletin does not think so. After studying 2,600 companies, it announces that profits for 1946 are considerably above those for 1945, and very considerably above pre-war figures. The ratio of profits to business investment has also taken a sharp rise during the past year.

The popular explanation that the higher prices are due to wage increases apparently needs some explanation itself.

WHOM COULD HE MEAN?

A New Zealander has put his finger on one of the world's greatest troubles. Sir Carl Berendson, a member of the UN General Assembly, told that body the other day that "too many people like to speak too often too long."

This has been noticed in every parish gathering, club or directors' meeting. It need not occasion surprise or alarm if this habit crops up in the UN.

These meatless days are good for a lot of people, in both body and soul.

Spring Skirts To Be Longer, Cost More, Says Expert

DALLAS, Oct. 20—(AP)—In the spring, ladies, skirts are going down another inch.

That's what E. E. Starkey, Seymour, Texas, president of the American Fashion Association, says.

Prices are going up as the hem line drops, Starkey declared. To dress with the "new look" it has cost women 15 per cent more in the past 60 days, he said.

The approved daytime skirt length for spring is 13 inches from the floor, the fashion man announced. Ballerina fullness is also predicted as the rage.

Women have changed the "new look" some, Starkey admitted. He said that padded hips just didn't click, but that full skirts still swing from well-girdled middles. And shoulder pads are still around, but more narrow, he observed

RHEUMATIC FEVER

By W. P. BROWN
Of Johnson's Pharmacy

Rheumatic Fever is a disease thet usually strikes children or young people; it is characterized by pain in the joints, and may be accompanied by a fever.

Serious cases will demand the physician's care, but it is slight attacks that often miss medical attention, yet it is these less serious cases that often produce heart disease in later life.

When your child complains of pains in the legs or arms, however slight, let the physician check him or her for rheumatic fever.

Let medication compounded of fresh effective drugs be supplied by a trusted druggist.

varying from 40 to 50 cents per 100 pounds, while the picking averages $2.50 per 100, thus far—$37.50 for picking—$46.50 for ginning and picking, leaving an average net of $141.

A total of 45,000 bales at an average of $152 amounts to $6,789,000 for the cotton crop net to the farmers—based on the expected ginning.

Navarro county, however, produces more cotton than is credited to this county.

Ginned in Other Counties.

There are a number of communities and gins just over the county line that draws cotton off Navarro county farms that does not get into the local county totals. For instance, gins at Streetman attract hundreds of bales from the Navarro county side—Streetman is just inside Freestone county. Wortham is only a short distance from Navarro county further to the west. Coolidge in Limestone county is not far from this county, as is Hubbard, Malone, Irene and Mertens in Hill county.

Mertens and Irene attract much cotton from the extreme western section of this county because it is more convenient. Irene gets the cotton in that area west of Richland creek and Mertens is only a half mile from the line while Frost is the nearest ginning point east—several miles—Ellis county may get some Navarro county cotton, particularly in the northeastern section as good roads are available in Ellis county.

Kerens, Eureka and Rice may attract a portion of ginning from other counties.

Considerable plowing has been done preparatory to fall grain planting and legumes for soil building and erosion-resisting practices, but fall operations now are principally concerned with the gathering of the valuable cotton crop.

Continued drouth conditions have caused a noticeable need for stock water in many sections, but the practice of constructing large tanks the past several years in a government program is caring for the situation in many instances.

Fall gardening operations are more or less at a standstill pending the fall of additional rains.

METHODIST SPEAKER RAPS IDEA CHURCHES LOSING INFLUENCE

By BOB CAMPBELL
Daily Sun Staff.

The pessimists of today who insist the church is losing its influence, and that religion as a force is abating constantly, were scolded Thursday night by Dr. Paul W. Quillian, pastor of the First Methodist church of Houston, the largest Methodist congregation in the world.

Dr. Quillian spoke before the Men's Dinner Club of the First Methodist church in the Educational building. He was introduced by Rev. Erwin F. Bohmfalk, pastor.

Dr. Quillian scored the church members whose habit it is to decry the decline of religion as an influence, and insist that "something terrible has happened to the church."

"Something wonderful has happened to the church," he said.

Methods More Realistic.

"Today's methods of teaching, today's trends, today's means of meeting the challenges are more realistic and more successful."

He said that some church leaders had kept abreast of civic and political changes, but had failed to follow the new trends in religious life.

"You recall the old methods," he said. "I never knew whether it was the intention of the old preachers to scare hell out of or scare hell into you, but there certainly was a lot of hell involved."

"My religion never gave me any happiness when I was a child," he added. "It was used to scare me. It gave me sleepless, tortured nights."

Statistics Cited.

Dr. Quillian cited statistics to show that since 1776 when only 5 percent of the community members belonged to a church, there has been a constant climb. The greatest gain was in the 20-year span from 1920 to 1944, he said, when the mark reached 52 percent.

"Today," he said, "people go to church for a different reason. In the old days in many instances they went to church because they didn't have any other place to go. It was a gathering place, a place to meet and have companionship. That is not true today. There are too many other things to see, to go to on Sunday. Today a man or a woman goes to church for religious reasons. He goes because he wants to go."

"On the Average."

Dr. Quillian, declaring "you can't get anybody to say an optimistic thing about progress of religion," scoffed at persons who use "on the average" basis of discussion.

He referred particularly to a church financial report which said that "on the average" contributions had declined.

"Put five Solomons at a table and put five morons with them," he said, "and you have an 'on the average' intelligence."

"Every man who works in the church learns sooner or later that there is no such thing as 'on the average' in relation to a church congregation."

The Methodist leader was undisturbed as to the future of religion.

Must Be a Religion.

"So long as we have the experience of love, the experience of honor, the experience of mysticism—the sudden realization that God is very near—there must be a religion," he said.

Today's churches—the Jewish, the Catholic, the Protestant—today have far greater unities than differences, the pastor declared.

"The best years of the church are ahead," he told the group. "Man must live the religion he professes in the church."

Dr. Quillian was accompanied here by his associate pastor, Rev. Grady Hardin.

Gooch Presided.

Gaston T. Gooch was toastmaster for the dinner, which was served by women of the congregation. Rev. J. Morris Bailey, pastor of the Eleventh Avenue Methodist church, gave the invocation, and Rev. Marvin M. Bledsoe, pastor of the Central Methodist church, the benediction.

Foy L. Garrett sang three selections, "Oh, Dry Those Tears," "Duna," and "Without a Song." He was accompanied by Mrs. O. W. Holmes. Mrs. Holmes also played for the general sing-song, led by Don Winslow.

Owen G. Elliott had charge of introducing the guests.

Rev. Bohmfalk announced that Dr. Umphrey Lee, president of Southern Methodist University, Dallas, would be the speaker for the January dinner.

aries claimed by California, in the federal government's suit for recovery of title and possession of the soil under this sub-sea area.

Jester, Texas Attorney General Price Daniel and Land Commissioner Bascom Giles have joined in urging other states to back federal quit-claim legislation to tidewater lands. They are also asserting Texas' special claims under terms of its admission to the Union.

He said this was the first American decision holding that 'any private or governmental agency has the right to take property and resources beneath the soil without lease or fee ownership, or without compensation to the true owner of the soil."

Truman View Regretted.

Jester said he regretted to remind the governors that "the president did not leave it up entirely to the supreme court to decide this question," that his thoughts were placed before the court by Attorney General Tom Clark in his argument before the court.

"If the states fail to assert themselves and obtain from congress a re-statement of the fundamental law of our land—that the federal government has only such internal powers as were given to it by the states—we can not expect to win our battles for constitutional democracy in the future," Jester said.

HOW TO MAKE A ROCKET

AP Newsfeatures

ROCKET-MINDED engineers and scientists of the General Electric Co., who are doing missile research for the U.S. Army, have developed a way to make miniature "parlor-sport" V-2 rockets. Here's how they do it, but the directions are not for children.

TAKE scissors, empty cigarette package with tinfoil, matches, paper clip. Place one match and one match head together, head to head.

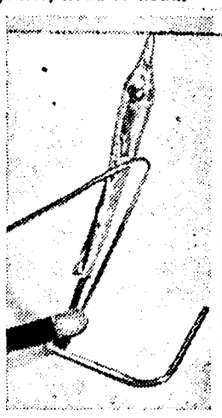

SEPARATE tinfoil from paper, and cut off a 1½ inch strip.

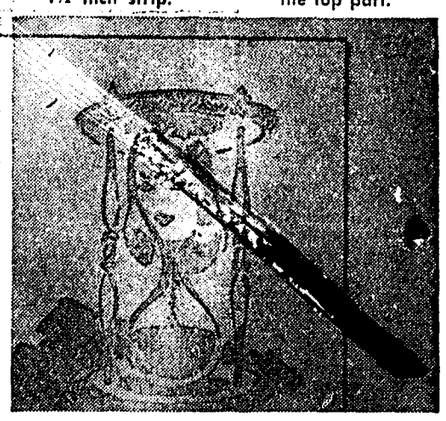

WRAP matches in tinfoil tightly, then twirl the top part.

BEND clip so it will form a base for the small rocket.

LIGHT tinfoil at point where the match heads bulge.

SWISH! The rocket zooms off—to a distance up to 15 feet, so make sure you give it some clear space. And also be careful of fire.

wanted to know where Communists have invaded the film capital, Warner said:

"The answer is that there are people with un-American leaning."

They are mostly in the "writing division", Warner added.

"I know they're un-American in their method," he went on, explaining that they endeavor to put into scripts "certain things which in my opinion are un-American.'"

"Would you admit there are certain people in your studio, who are un-American," Stripling asked.

"Yes," Warner replied.

Studio Action Claimed

But he emphasized that whenever un-American ideas creep into scripts, the studio cuts them out.

At the outset of the hearing, Chairman Thomas (R-NJ) refused to hear a motion to quash subpoenas for 19 Hollywood personalities to appear before the committee during its three weeks of hearings. The subpoenas are orders for the 19 to appear at witnesses.

Robert W. Kenny, counsel for Actor Larry Parks and 18 writers and producers, sought to move that the subpoenas be quashed. This would mean freeing the 19 from any necessity to appear before the committee.

Warner was then called as the first of the industry witnesses.

He was accompanied to the witness stand by Paul V. McNutt, his attorney.

As Stripling pressed questions as to the "un-American people" in Hollywood, Warner commented:

"I have never seen a Communist and I wouldn't know one if I saw one."

Warner declared he had seen Fascists abroad but didn't recall having encountered them in Hollywood.

The "un-American" infiltration in Hollywood, Warner said, first was noticed in 1936 and 1937 "in our studio and every studio there."

Famed Writers Mentioned

Warner listed Clifford Odets, Irwin Shaw and Ring Lardner, Jr., among writers he has dismissed from his studio because he believed they were injecting "un-American doctrines" into movie scenarios.

Others, he continued under questioning by Stripling, were Gordon Kahn, Alvah Bessie, Guy Endore, Howard Koch, Emmett Lavery, John Howard Lawson, Robert Rosson, Dalton Trumbo, John Wexley, Julius and Phillip Epstein, and Sheridan Gibney.

Warner insisted several times he did not know whether any of these were or are Communists but that he considered some of their beliefs un-American.

He identified Kahn as director of a paper for the screen writers' Guild. After he discharged him, Warner continued, Kahn went to Mexico on an assignment for Holiday, a Curtis Publishing Company magazine.

Warner said he instructed his New York office to inform Curtis of his reasons for dismissing Kahn. The company replied, he said, that its assignments to writers were none of Warners' business.

As the reading finished, Thomas asked Warner whether he still feels the same about the writers.

"Yes," Warner replied, adding, "I pay my deep respect to the Curtis Publishing Company for their American stand for free speech and a free press."

Kenny was told to make the motion next week when his witnesses are scheduled to be heard and to file a statement of facts in the meantime.

"This is certainly un-American," Bartley C. Crum, an associate of Kenny, remarked.

Kenny was ordered to stand aside so that the first scheduled witness could be heard.

"That it all—you may not ask one more thing at this time," Thomas retorted as the attorney insisted that the time to hear his motion was at the start of the hearing.

Kenny tried to make his motion immediately after Thomas opened the hearing by reading a prepared statement which included the declaration, "There is no question that there are Communists in Hollywood."

What the committee wants to know, the chairman told the audience jammed into the chamber, is "the extent of Communist infiltration in the Hollywood motion picture industry."

In the crowd were many movie luminaries subpoenaed to testify during the three weeks of hearings.

mechanic, and Lorenzo Gutievez, 39, of Spur, were killed in an auto collision near Dickens Sunday.

Four children were killed instantly Sunday night and their parents critically injured when their automobile was demolished by a Missouri Pacific freight train in a crossing accident four miles south of Trinity.

Trinity City Marshall P. A. Price said the children were Diana Lanier French, eight months old; Mary Elizabeth French, six; John Thomas French, eight, and Bonnie Lou French, 14.

Price said Mr. and Mrs. W T. French whose home is a quarter mile from the crossing, and the bodies of their children were thrown in a circle around the wrecked car, which was hurled about 40 feet by the impact.

Mr. and Mrs. French were taken to a Huntsville hospital.

Plane Crash Kills Three

Three persons were killed Sunday when a light plane crashed shortly after taking off from the Levelland Airport. Dead were Elmond Finley, 22, the pilot, and Rita Shirley and Ruby Shirley, two sisters who were passengers.

Another plane crash at McCauley, Texas, was fatal to E. C. Waldrop, 45, and his passenger, Joe Houghton, 17, a member of the McCaulley High School six-man football team.

A man found late Saturday night in the rear of the Union Bus Terminal at Amarillo, Texas, was identified Sunday as Jimmie Jack James, 39-year-old painter, thought to be living in Wichita Falls prior to his death.

Run Over by Bus

James' body apparently had been run over by a bus. He was found in a gravel driveway at the rear of the station where buses turn in to enter the station.

Tommy Moore, Jr., 25, Coleman, top and body works employe, was killed Sunday afternoon near San Angelo when the car in which he was riding struck a concrete abutment of a culvert and overturned several times. Ancil Forbess, 21, also of Coleman, was critically injured.

Raymond Keneaster of Pearland and Rollin B. Boyd of Alvin were killed in an explosion while they were welding an oil storage tank. The explosion took place on the C. H. A. Alexander oil lease near Hastings Saturday.

Constable's Son Stabbed

Bernard Lindsay, 25, son of Constable Tom Lindsay, was fatally stabbed at Martindale, near Lockhart, as he went to the assistance of his father who was attempting to arrest two men Saturday night. Juan Riojas was shot and instantly killed in the fight. Officers said that a bystander stabbed young Lindsay. A suspect was arrested in Austin Sunday.

Staff Sgt. Berl B. Mullins, 26, Fort Worth Army Air Field soldier from Malakoff, died early Sunday in a Fort Worth hospital of injuries suffered Saturday morning when his automobile overturned near Fort Worth.

Valentine Rodriguez, 60, of Waco was killed Sunday morning when he was struck by an automobile as he walked along the Waco-Temple highway.

Truck, Car Crash Fatal

Frederico Tijerna Villareal about 60, of Corpus Christi was killed and 11 other persons were injured about noon Sunday when a passenger car and a truck load of migratory farm workers collided near Big Spring.

Mrs. Sellye Gorton, 40, of Houston was killed instantly early Sunday in a headon collision of two automobiles near Liberty.

Fred Hahn, 81, former Gillespie county commissioner and rancher, was killed Saturday when he fell from the roof of his home at Fredericksburg.

W. J. Stearman, 49, and his son, Willie Lee Stearman, 23, were shot to death Saturday near Clarksville, Texas. A neighbor, P. C. Porter, about 55, was charged with murder. He was slightly wounded. Sheriff Taylor McCoy said that the shooting followed a dispute about some land.

lend a cheer, met the rescued and their saviors at the dock.

One and all, the survivors, many clad in dungarees, shouted their praises of the crew of the Bibb. Too, they couldn't say enough about the airmanship of Captain Charles Martin of Miami, Fla., pilot of the Sky Queen.

At the same time, however, some of the passengers charged the seaplane had been "overloaded."

Declaration Signed

William Bostock, Shell Oil Company employe, a survivor, said a declaration was signed by all but three of the plane's adult passengers, asking "why planes of this type are allowed to fly."

Robert Laffer, 62-year-old New York fur dealer, and Patrick Quinn, of Long Beach, Calif., first officer on the S. S. Chisholm Trail, both agreed to the "overloading" complaint.

Captain Paul B. Cronk, commanding the Bibb, asserted Martin "should have received a larger share of today's acclaim. He was not a sailor but kept his plane stable, although handicapped by sea-sickness."

The Sky Queen's passengers and crewmen were taken to Boston headquahters of the American Red Cross.

There they were given a hearty meal and furnished with clothing, transportation and money.

The American International Airways, operator of the plane, furnished transportation. The crew immediately flew to New York.

There, Captain Martin, former Navy officer, said he had a sufficient supply of reserve gasoline when he left Poole, England, for Baltimore, but that "the headwinds buffetted us and I decided we would not make the effort to go on to Gander, Newfoundland, and almost surely sacrifice the lives of all these people. So set her down."

J. Stewart Robertson, president of the line, accompanied the crew on an Eastern Airlines plane to New York.

As the Bibb came into Port CAB officials interviewed the Sky Queen's crew and announced a public hearing would open in New York Oct. 30 "to seek to determine the physical cause of the forced landing."

Robertson declined to discuss the CAB's order halting the company's operations. The company now has four flying boats.

DR. ROSS

British army during World War One.

District Attorney J. Lee Dittert followed by asking the witness if he saw Ross on May 25. "No sir," he replied.

Doctors Assert Insanity.

The other two doctors who testified were Dr. Augustine Watzlavik and Dr. J. B. Copeland.

Both said that in their opinion Ross was insane May 25.

Copeland, who at one time was connected with the state hospital in San Antonio, said that on the basis of his experience in handling "more than 500 cases of insanity," he thought Ross was demented.

He said that he visited Ross in the county jail at New Braunfels a few hours after the shooting. He said he thought Ross was "insane" at the time.

Upon questioning by Dittert, Copeland said that he did not think Ross was insane when he saw him at a formal dinner party at 11 p. m. the night before the slayings.

"Aloof" At Party.

He did say, however, that Ross appedred "aloof" at the party and caused comment of other doctors present because he was wearing a light tan summer suit while many of the others were in their dinner clothes.

"Did you know that Dr. Ross was going to an informal party later in the night?" Blundell asked.

"No," Copeland replied.

Watzlavik, who was reared in Fayette county, said that as a resident physician at Santa Rosa hospital in San Antonio where Dr. Ross made many operations, he noticed that the defendant had "lost his touch" prior to the killings.

"Carrying Extra Burden."

Cayo testified that Ross put in on average of 15 hours a day as a doctor and "you could hardly expect a man to stand up." He said he knew Ross was also "carrying an extra burden."

Ross' manner changed, he said, and instead of getting detailed and friendly answers to questions he got "merely yes or no" answers.

Cayo said that Ross was more interested in his work than in making money. He told of one case where Ross offered him his personal check for his services in an operation he helped him with.

"Of course I didn't take it," he added, "because I knew then that the patient did not have the money."

Seventh Day of Trial.

The trial moved into its seventh day following a Sunday recess.

The defendant is charged with shooting to death Investment Broker Willard York, 39, a close friend, and York's wife, son and mother.

Ann York, 13 1-2-year-old daughter of the investment broker, who escaped the May 25 ambush slaying by fleeing down a country road, identified Dr. Ross, the York's family doctor, as the man who pumped rifle bullets into her father's car.

The state indicated it will ask the death penalty for the doctor, the defense counsel bases its case on a plea of insanity.

Chief Defense Attorney Fred Blundell said he had more witnesses to take the stand today in an effort to prove that Ross was insane at the time of the alleged shooting.

Rheumatic Fever Claimed.

Roy W. Scott of Cleveland, a noted authority on rheumatic fever, testified that the doctor, a former resident surgeon in a Cleveland, Ohio, hospital, was a victim of the disease.

He said the disease can affect the mind and cause its victims to do "strange and unforseen acts."

The case was transferred here from Comal county, scene of the alleged crime.

Jurors hearing the case here are all farmers with the exception of two. They are a mechanic and a man who works on railroad bridges.

At nights they sleep in the third-floor jury room of the half-century old Fayette county court house. They are in the custody of Jailer and Deputy Sheriff William Rightmer.

Saturday defense attorneys entered as evidence bankruptcy papers, allegedly filed by York, in an effort to show that the investment broker separated the doctor from his fortune.

hanging fire for months, the old agreement having expired last spring. It has been the subject of a series of off-the-record conferences between Territo and members of the commission.

Changes Put Off.

The first result of the conferences was an outburst if indignation when Territo published proposed route changes which he said the commission had authorized in one of the conferences. A petition protesting the proposed changes began circulating the next day, pushed hard by north run patrons and the bus owner abandoned plans to make the changes.

At a conference this week, Mayor Hubert T Braselton said, an agreement had been reached whereby no changes would be made for a 90-day period.

Another matter on the commission's slate for Tuesday is an ordinance regulating speed of automobiles around school zones. It is on the calendar for a second reading.

BROADWAY

By JACK O'BRIAN

NEW YORK—A gentleman who knows his way around a Broadway kitchen told me one four A.M. in Lindy's, as some of the gathered dilletantes marveled at the tremendous business Leo Lindy seems to be able to attract constantly without a band or floor show: "You'll notice that night clubs almost immediately attain a high popularity or else close in a hurry."

This seemed pretty logical. We'd been talking of the swift demise of such clubs as "The Vanity Fair," "The Mardi Gras," "The Aquarium" and a few others. We also took up the matter of "The Zanzibar," which was a skyrocketing success once it opened, but which, after a gradual decline, also did the accordian act.

NOW," went on my venerable saloon expert, "take the case of restaurants.

"Lindy gathered his crowds over a long period, first in a small place, then in a larger one, and now in this big joint. Toots Shor started from scratch, and he didn't have it easy at first. Jack Kreindler, who just died, became a millionaire by starting at the bottom and fighting for patronage with good food and pleasant surroundings.

"The ratio, then, for restaurants as compared with night clubs is a completely inverse one. Night clubs start out at a height of popularity, and gradually decline.

"Restaurants start out with nothing and gradually climb. And believe me, that's the best way. I have no better justification for my beliefs than the fact that Sam Salvin is opening a restaurant instead of a night club for a change."

Ears cocked at the mention of Sam Salvin, for he is one of the big names along Broadway, kitchen-wise. He's credited with being one of the master minds of "the back of the house," meaning kitchen and purchasing of foodstuffs, assembling of staffs and the complex culinary logistics.

SAM indeed is quiting night clubs. His last was the Monte Carlo, which he operated magnificently for the real estate interests which own that luxurious property. He was owner or operator of the original Palais Royale, the Mohtmartre, the exclusive Patio and Colony in Florida. He found so many heartaches in the night club end of the business that he actually had a heart attack last year. Fed up with dine-and-dance joints he started planning a new restaufant, a riot of oyster gray and tan, with a special room for steak customers done in masculine decor, at the corner of 57th and Park Avenue, as chi-chi a location as any cafe socialite might wish. He's going after comfort and a permanent clientele, in a building which easily might accommodate 1,000 Sam is fixing his seating arrangements for 400. And you couldn't get Sam back into a night club, except as a customer, for love or money.

LOCAL CONTINGENT OUTCLASSED BY FINE VISITING ELEVEN

THREE TOUCHDOWNS REGISTERED DURING SECOND QUARTER OF GAME

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff

Navarro Junior College Bulldogs went down before the strong Henderson County Cardinals Saturday night 29-0, almost helpless before the strong running and passing games wielded by the visitors.

The Bulldogs threatened during the first period, when they played on even terms with the visitors, but failed to score when deep in Cardinal territory. From there on the visitors were in control, and smothered the Bulldogs' best efforts, while reeling off gain after gain from a smooth-working T formation.

Weight, reserves and injuries again made the difference. The Navarro boys fought hard, but were outclassed by the visitors, who are still tied with Hillsboro for the lead in the Texas Junior College Athletic Conference's northern zone.

Navarro Threat

Navarro received the kick-off, and went to the Cardinal 18 before the visitors stopped the threat and took over on downs J. C. Collier, Milton Vinson and Charlie Smith alternated at running the ball to get down close, but the Bulldogs' best was not enough.

Early in the second quarter Steve Mexia burst through the Bulldog center and ran 42 yards for the initial score. He converted from placement. Hardly had that score faded when the Cardinals recovered a Bulldog fumble on the Navarro 35. Three running plays got the leather to the 1-yard marker, and Gibson, Cardinal fullback, went over from there. Mexia again converted.

Late in the second quarter, with time running out, Mexia and Mann alternated at vicious line plays to take the ball to the Navarro 15. From there Fields passed to Gilbert over the goal, and Mexia kicked true again, and the Cardinals led 21-0 at the half.

Safety Registered

Bad luck seemed to hound the Bulldogs all night. On the opening kick-off of the second half, a Navarro back juggled the ball behind the Bulldog goal. Charlie Smith picked up the ball to run it out, and was tackled behind the wide line to give the visitors a safety.

Mexia returned the Navarro free kick to the Bulldog 35, and the Cardinals were off again. Johnson made it a first down on the Navarro 7. Three plays got the ball to the 1-yard line, where Pierce went over on a quarterback sneak. Mexia missed his placement.

The Bulldogs threatened in the fourth period. Smith tossed a 22-yard aerial to Adams, who got to the Cardinal 30 before he was downed. On the next play Henderson County drew a 15-yard penalty for unnecessary roughness. Smith's pass was intercepted by Johnson to end the Bulldog threat.

Too Much Power

The Bulldog's toll of cripples seemed hardly in shape to cope with the Cardinals after the initial period. The locals showed no lack of fight, but the visitors had too much power. The Bulldogs suffered many injuries on the field.

Toppy Watson, Jib Bob Ivey, David Little, Milton Spurgeon, Lloyd Longino, Tommy Phillips and several other Navarro linemen showed up well defensively. J. C. Collier, Charlie Smith, Jack Matthews and other local backfielders did commendable work.

The Bulldogs have an open date this week, and can do much to recuperate and prepare for the invasion of the strong Hillsboro Junior College crew here on November 1.

STATE PRESIDENT'S DISCUSSION OF 'WE FACE TOMORROW' FEATURE OF B.&P.W. CONFERENCE BANQUET

By MRS. LYNNE A. WORTHAM,
Sun Society Editor

In a dynamic and challenging discussion of the year's theme, "We Face Tomorrow," Miss Marguerite Anderson of Abilene, president of Texas Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, urged members and officers of District Five Business and Professional Women's Clubs, who were in attendance at the formal banquet of the organization, on Saturday evening at Kinsloe House, to strive for a new era in human relations and to face the future with courage, confidence and idealism.

Stressing the realizaton of a sense of immediacy, the speaker asked her listeners if they were ready to accept equal opportunity and equal pay, and to exercise their right of franchise and make themselves heard in the politcal councils of the city, state and nation.

Miss Anderson also queried her listeners as to whether or not they are now shareholders in the greatest business in the world today—that of attaining world peace. She urged a continuance of their current activities to win the pence—a permanent world peace.

Equal Pay For Comparable Work

In discussing equal pay for comparable work, Miss Anderson stated that equal pay laws have been enacted in only seven states. But one-fourth of all women in the labor force are affected by these laws, she stated. Equal pay and equal opportunity are rights, but like all rights, they bring responsibility on the part of the women who are advocating them for every woman in America today, the speaker pointed out.

In the field of finance, it was suggested that bigger production, better work and no strikes would combat inflation that is now enveloping the country. As to the problems of health and safety, Miss Anderson recommended that B. and P. W. Clubs face the future by advocating the necessity of everyday recreation for all colors and races, and to provide educational measures for the prevention of accidents.

The speaker pointed out that legislative aims of the organization have not been reached, but that progress is being made.

American education is working to obliterate the teacher shortage and inadequate salaries, and to establish adequate school plants throughout the nation. Under the departmental project, public affairs the speaker stated that the outstanding problem is the conservation of land.

Although women have had the franchise only twenty years, the president made a plea for business and professional women to make their voices heard in the elections, and to participate in the privileges of citizenship.

Increase Membership

The speaker urged her listeners to contribute their share to increasing the membership of the state organization from 4,549 to 8,420 by July, 1948—the date of the Biennial Convention of the National Federation in Fort Worth. The nacional goal is 150,000 by convention time, she stated. She spoke of the 30 per cent increase in District Five, and congratulated them upon their accomplishments. She called attention to the fact that presidents of the seven clubs of District Five were in atendance at the banquet.

Miss Anderson recommended the continuance of contributions to the Chinese Nurses' Relief Project and the Minnie L. Maffett Fellowship Fund, and was urgent in her insistence that all B. and P. W. members visit Freedom Train when it tours the four Texas cities on its itinerary.

In conclusion, she again urged her listeners to "face the future" confident and unafraid, and with a more glorious tomorrow as their goal.

President of Hostess Club Presided

Mrs. L. S. Cooper, president of the Hostess club, served as mistress of ceremonies. After an invocation by Mrs. R. N. Elliott, delegates and guests enjoyed one of Mrs. Gladys Burkhatt's appetizing dinner menus with baked ham garnished with pineapple as the piece de resistance and individual pumpkin pies giving emphasis to the approaching Hallowe'en season.

The table decor accented the gold and white color theme of the local club. The speakers' table was adorned with a trio of bronze baskets holding golden and white chrysanthemums, and illumined by myriad yellow tapers in brass candelabra—the attractive decorations having been provided by John Corley, past president of the Rotary Club and prominent civic leader of Corsicana. Other tables held arrangements of marigolds and glowing tapers in crystal holders. The program booklets, which were adorned with water-color reproductions of golden chrysanthemums, and tied with golden ribbons, were the artistic achievements of Miss Rosa George White, the presiding officer announced.

Club presidents of the District, introduced by Mrs. Cooper, included Willie Robinson of Athens, Vera Norton of Ennis, Rena Mae Ellisor of Mexia, Hazel Stokes of Palestine, Clara Riley of Teague and Myrtle Moroski of Waco. Others introduced were Ruth Townsen of Fort Worth, president-elect, Margaret Conger of Waco, immediate past director of District Five, Adlyn Hays, present director of district Five and Arvilla Patterson of Fort Worth, who accompanied Miss Marguerite Anderson, state president, to Corsicana.

Entertainment Features

Entertainment features of the evening included a singsong with Mrs. R. N. Elliott as leader, with Mrs. Sam B. Werner at the piano, a sparkling two-piano interpretation of "Waltz of the Flowers" (Tschaikowsky) by Misses Arliss Shell and Katharine Regester, and a demonstration of legerdemain by Mrs. Mordant McKinney.

Fun features of the evening, titled "Let's Take A Chance," and directed by the hostess club, included an interlude of bingo games with prizes for the winners. Through the courtesy of P. and S. Pharmacy, bottled cokes were served at the conclusion of the games, and as an informal climax to banquet program.

Presidents' Breakfast

The main business of the Presidents' breakfast at the Vinson Dining Room on Sunday morning at 7:30 o'clock was the election of Miss Shelma Carlisle of Teague as chairman of the state nominating committee, and Mrs. Margaret Conger of Waco as alternate, Mrs. Mary Catherine Huffman of Palestine, as Director-elect of District Five, and the selection of Palestine as the place of meeting for the 1948 District Conference. Miss Adlyn Hays, District Director, presided at the meeting.

At 9 o'clock at Kinsloe House, Miss Hayes continued the business session, which was opened with a singsong of hymns led by Mrs. R. N. Elliott with Mrs. Sam B. Werner at the piano.

Delegates and visitors were welcomed by Mrs. L. S. Cooper, president of the hostess club, and the response was given by Mrs. Hazel Stokes, president of the Palestine Club.

Reports of club presidents included those of Mrs. Willie Robinson, Athens; Mrs. L. S. Cooper, Corsicana; Mrs. Vera Norton, Ennis; Mrs. Rena Mae Ellisor, Mexia; Mrs. Hazel Stokes, Palestine; Mrs. Clara Riley, Teague; Mrs. Myrtle Moroski, Waco.

A report of the resolutions committee was presented by Mrs. Clara Riley of Teague, and a report on the business session of the President's breakfast was given by Miss Hayes.

The program participant for the morning was Mrs. Edith DeBusk of Dallas, chairman of state Legislative Committee, who spoke on "Jury Service for Women" and "The Equal Rights Amendment."

At 10:45 o'clok, the Conference adjourned and the delegates attended the churches of their choice.

Luncheon at Country Club

The delegates and visitors re-assembled at the Corsicana Country Club at 12:30 o'clock p. m. for a luncheon session that concluded the Conference.

One of Mrs. J. R. Copeland's choice menus with half a broiled chicken as the piece de resistance and homemade ice cream topped with chocolate sauce as dessert was served at tables adorned with gold and white Fall blossoms and gold tapers, and appointed in silver and bronze.

Miss Adlyn Hays presided and the invocation was given by Mrs. Willie Robinson, president of the Athens Club. Miss Hays reported on the accomplishments of the President's Breakfast, announcing that Miss Shelma Carlisle of Teague had been elected chairman of the state nominating committee, Mrs. Margaret Conger of Waco as alternate, Mrs. Mary Catherine Huffman of Palestine at Director-elect of District Five, and that Palestine had been chosen as the place of meeting for the 1948-49 Conference.

State officials introduced by Miss Hays included Dr. Mary Lou Logan of Dallas, Director of Twelfth District, Mrs. Edith Debusk of Dallas, Legislative Chairman, and Grace Nelson of Dallas, custodian of the Minnie L. Maffet Fellowship Fund. Others introduced were Ruth Godfrey, president of the Dallas Club, Mrs. Jane Johnson, Service Chairman of Dallas Club, Marian Coleman of Paris and Elsie Moses of Fort Worth and Cecil Canterbury of Dallas.

Special attention was called to the program booklets which featured a pen-and-ink sketch of "Our Tomorrow" by Miss Lena Rose Harvin. According to the sketch, tomorrow's world will continue to advocate, and perhaps realize, equal pay for equal work, equal rights, jury service for women, Federal aid to education and conservatiton of natural resources.

Joe E. Butler, chairman of the house committee of the Corsicana Country Club, was given a rising vote of thanks for extending the courtesies of the clubhouse to the visiting B. and P. W. Club members.

An entertainment feature at this point in the program was presented by Mrs. Lynne Wortham who contributed a group of accordion selections, with "It's You I Sigh For," an original swing number, as an encore.

Speaker Introduced

Miss Ruth Townsen of Fort Worth, State President-Elect and National Contact Chairman for the 1948 Biennial which will be held in Fort Worth, was introduced by Miss Hays as speaker for the occasion.

Miss Townsen brought an interesting and revealing account of elaborate plans now being made to entertain Texas' first biennial B. and P. W. convention. The planning committee, which was appointed by the Fort Worth Club, met for their first offficial meeting on August 2nd, and from that time on, the chairmen of the committees have begun putting plans into action.

Finances for staging the convention will be secured from individual members of B. and P. W. Clubs who are urged to contribute one dollar each to the entertainment fund. The response is encouraging from over the state, and the Corsicana Club reported that one dollar per capita had gone to the fund, as voted at the state convention.

Committees

Committees that will handle plans for the convention, as listed by Miss Townsen, will include finance, transportation, publicity, housing, ushers and pages, special occasions, National Board hostesses, hospitality, information, rodeo and chuck wagon dinner, platform chairman, courtesy, properties, and post-convention tour.

Miss Townsen concluded by stating that she and other members of the planning committee were counting on the teamwork of the State Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs to make the coming Biennial the outstanding one in the history of the National B and P. W. Clubs.

Miss Elizabeth Nixon of Richland, an honorary member of the local club, offered the benediction and conference adjourned.

JANE DODGE SHOWERS BECOMES BRIDE OF JAMES RICHARD ELIOT IN FIRST METHODIST CEREMONY

In a candlelight ceremony at First Methodist Church on Saturday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, Jane Dodge Showers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hill of Chicago, Ill., became the bride of James Richard Eliot, son of Mrs. E. A. Eliot and the late Mr. Eliot.

Massive arrangements of brown and yellow chrysanthemums in pedestal baskets were silhouetted against bankings of Woodwardia ferns and palms to fashion a background before which the Rev. Edwin F. Bohmfalk read the impressive double ring ceremony. In the chancel, tall yellow tapers gleamed from floor candelabra and provided soft illumination for the setting. Golden, red and brown leaves, intermingled with seasonal greenery, festooned the choir and chancel rails, and bows of golden satin ribbons marked family pews.

Prelude of Organ Selections

Mrs. O. W. Holmes, organist, played a prelude of selections, including "Arioso" by Handel, "Ave Maria" by Schubert and "Romance" by Tschaikowsky. She also played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied Mrs. Claude White who sang "O Perfect Love" and "O Promise me." Muted arrangements of noted love songs were used as background music for the ceremony.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a suit of brown silk faille with hat and other accessories to match. She carried an ivory satin prayerbook overlaid with an arrangement of brown orchids and golden Talisman roses embedded in French malines, and showered with ivory satin ribbon streamers.

The bride's only attendant, Miss Paulyne Acre, wore a suit of lyrical toast gabardine with beaded paisley hat and harmonizing accessories. She carried a powder-puff bouquet of Golden Dawn roses tied with matching satin ribbons.

George Eliot, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man, and ushers were Edgar Eliot, brother of the bridegroom, Robert Lavender, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, and E. B. Harris, Jr.

The bride's mother wore gray crepe and a matching gray hat with ostrich trim, and the bridegroom's mother chose blue crepe with matching hat. Corsages of gardenias completed their ensembles.

Reception at Kinsloe House

An informal reception for members of the immediate families was held at Kinsloe House immediately following the ceremony. An all-white arrangement of carnations, Radiance roses and chrysanthemums, and silver candelabra holding glowing white tapers adorned the bride's table.

The white satin-iced cake was of double-wedding ring contour and embossed with sugar-spun lilies-of-the-valley and orchids. Mrs. E. B. Harris, Jr., served the cake, and Mrs. Rex Bounds presided at the plastic punch service.

Mrs. Edgar Eliot had charge of the silver and, china and Mrs. Glenn Smith of Mineola registered the guests. Mesdames Robert Lavender and George Eliot assisted in hostess duties.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will be at home at 2107 West Seventh Avenue.

The bride was graduated from Starrett School for Girls in Chicago, and attended Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. The bridegroom was graduated from Corsicana High School, attended Stephen F. Austin State Teachers' College at Nacogdoches, and served five years with the U. S. armed forces, three years of which were spent in India.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Hill of Chicago, Ill., Mrs. O. B. Sawyer of Beaumont; Jack Penny of San Antonio; Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Smith of Mineola, and Mr. and Mrs. Dick Farmer of Dallas.

Safeway's Meat Counters are Open on Tuesdays
(and every day except Sunday)
HERE IS WHY:
1. Many people need fresh meat in some form every day as prescribed by their physicians for specific health conditions.
2. Certain creeds and religious faiths may observe a day other than Tuesday as their meatless day.
3. Many consumers may find it necessary to buy their meat on Tuesday for use on Wednesday.

In having meat for sale every day Safeway is simply fulfilling its obligation to serve the needs of all customers.

In addition, Safeway believes that an important contribution will be made to cutting down waste by maintaining an even flow of perishable foods from producer to consumer. For its part, Safeway intends to wholeheartedly cooperate with President Truman's program by doing everything possible to eliminate spoilage and waste in its stores and warehouses. Closing the stores or withholding food from sale on any business day would simply mean an extra storage period for perishable foods which in turn would increase the amount of waste and spoilage.

FIFTY-YARD PASS IN FOURTH PERIOD GIVES TIGERS WIN

LARGE CROWD FOLLOWED HIGH SCHOOL TEAM ON HILLSBORO TREK

By TALMADGE CANANT
Sun Sports Staff

The Corsicana Tigers squeezed by the Hillsboro Eagles Friday night 21-20, the narrow margin of a point after touchdown.

Outgained on the ground by the heavier Eagles, who kept the Felines in a hole throughout the major part of two quarters, the Tigers had to come from behind late in the final quarter to snatch the victory.

The crowd that packed Frazier Field last night could have filled the available stands twice with some left over. They saw a thrill-packed game, from whi tle to whistle.

Bowen to Carter

It was a hair-raising 55 yard pass play from Gerald Bowen to Max Carter in the final minutes that put across the final Tiger touchdown and tied the score at 20-20. Kelly Burkhart's perfect kick between the uprights was the difference.

Corsicana scored first in the game. The Tigers received the kick-off and had a touchdown in less than a dozen plays. Their running game began to click, as June Clark got off for a 25-yard gallop, and Bill Davis and his other two mates, Burkhart and Mash, combined to take the ball to the Eagle 20. There Corsicana's first pass, from Clark to Davis, was good on the 10, and Davis crossed the goal from there. Burkhart split the uprights with his conversion kick.

Eagles Come Back

That was the sum total of the Tiger offense for the remainder of the first half. The Eagles' Bob McFarland, who dealt the Tigers misery all night, carried the ball almost every time and the Eagles drove into the shadow of the Tiger goal posts. There the Tiger line stiffened and held, and Bowen punted out to the Tiger 45, where McFarland took the kick and returned it to the Tiger 15. Corsicana held again, but Gibson finally plunged over center to count early in the second quarter and McFarland's placement tied it up at 7-7.

Corsicana received the kick-off, and got back to midfield. There the Tigers tried the old Statue of Liberty play, but Warren Foster, Eagle end, snatched the ball as Clark was taking the hand-off, and got to the Tiger 30 before Clark overhauled him and brought him down.

That Eagle drive petered out on the Corsicana 16, when a fourth-down pass was incomplete. But on the next play, Bowen's pass on a fake punt play was intercepted on Tiger 22 by Franks. The Eagles went over in five plays, with C. Franks hitting center for the score. A bad pass from center kept McFarland from kicking for the point, and the half ended with Corsicana on the short end of a 13-7 score.

Hillsboro Scores Again

Early in the third quarter Hillsboro recovered Burkhart's fumble on the Tiger 20, and Franks tossed an aerial to Warren Foster for another touchdown. McFarland converted and the Tigers found themselves two touchdowns behind. With the score at 20-7, the Tigers were at their lowest ebb.

Corsicana, finally in possession of the ball after being without it for more than a quarter, promptly drove deep in Eagle territory. Two passes, Caton to Blair Beamon, and Bowen to Davis, put the ball on the Hillsboro 30. Clark went to the 11, and Caton to the 4, but there Hillsboro tightened up and the ball went over on downs.

The Eagles fumbled on the next play, and end Blair Beamon hopped on the ball to give the Tigers possession on the 2. June Clark hit center for the score, and Burkhart again kicked straight, as the third period ended.

With time running low in the final period, Corsicana again unleashed a passing attack, and they carried the ball to midfield. There two plays failed to gain, and then Bowen took the ball on a lateral and fired the long pass to end Max Carter that tied up the score. Burkhart's unerring toe put the Tigers out in front.

The Eagles pass attack again started functioning, but time was too short, and the gun sounded with Hillsboro in possession on the Tiger 40 yard line.

The Tigers finished up strong in the second half of the ball game, which is a tribute to the spirit and condition of the boys. In midfield the Tiger defense was not too strong, but in the shadow of their goal posts, the Corsicanans made the going tough for the Eagles. The Eagle passing game gave the Felines plenty of trouble.

Corsicana's running game could and did function, but in the final period time was too short for that, and the Tigers gambled with passes and won the game on them. Bill Davis did a heady job of signal-calling.

The list of Corsicana players who deserve praise would run deep into the Tiger roster. Briefly, however, Blair Beamon, Bill Sharpley, Richard Cummins, Jimmy Cavender, and Bennie Poarch, in the line did a masterful job against the heavier Hillsboro line.

The Tiger starting backfield, as usual, was replete with good play, but the most noticeable thing was the improved showing of Gerald Bowen and Jerry Caton, second string backs. Bowen punted twice for an average of 44 yards, both against a stiff wind. Caton got off some good passes, and a commendable run or two.

Guy M. Gibson recently completed 2 miles of drainage ditches on his farm 8 miles east of Eureka. The 450 acres of cultivated land that will be better drained by this system of drainage ditches is protected from flood waters of Chambers and Richland Creeks by levees. Soil Conservation Service personnel of the Corsicana headquarters assitted in planning the drainage system, running lines and checking for completion.

Morris Crawford reports fall seeding of winter legumes completed on his farm 4 miles east of Rural Shade. Seventy acres were seeded to rye and vetch. This acreage, along with 55 acres of volunteer vetch, will afford protection for soil on a large acreage during the winter rains. Valuable winter grazing that will eliminate high feed costs is also an important consideration with this large acreage in winter legumes.

Planting Completed

Planting of vetch and rye has been completed on a considerable acreage on the L. R. Nolan farm five miles southeast of Rural Shade. Winter grazing for livestock, soil improvement and seed as a cash crop, are the benefits Nolan expects to receive from this practice.

W. E. Henderson has been mowing his pastures to make the grasses more readily available to livestock for fall and winter grazing. The Henderson farm is located at Rural Shade.

R. T. Hines of the Elm Flat conservation group recently completed work on 4000 feet of drainage ditches on his farm 4 miles south of Powell. The draingae system will afford better drainage for 40 acres of valuable cropland, heretofore poorly drained. The work is being done by use of a farm tractor and a Corsicana grader. Hines recently sowed 32 acres of Austrian winter peas for all soil improvement.

The West Streetman Conservation group was recently organized by a group of landowners and operators in and near Streetman. Personnel of the Wortham Soil Conservation Service headquarters will represent the Navarro-Hill Soil Conservation District in working with the newly formed group. R. M. Henderson, J. C. Harris, Elm Sims, J. L. Cooper, R. C. Cooper, C. T. Frazier, E. C. Ward and the Coleman brothers comprise the new group.

Louis Wolens has been constructing fences on his farm 6 miles east of Chatfield. Wolens reports 655 rods of fence completed around idle land that will now be utilized as pasture for livestock.

WEST NAVARRO TEAM FIGHTS DEFENSIVE BATTLE WITH LOCALS

PUNTS OF JORDAN SET STATE HOME OFFENSE BACK EARLY IN GAME

By PAUL MOORE
Sun Sports Editor

State Home Laddies ran into unexpected opposition Friday night at the hands of an inspired and scrapping bunch of youngsters from Blooming Grove and had plenty of trouble winning, 20-0, to remain undefeated in District 23-B.

When the big squad of larger boys trotted on the field as the Lions were limbering, one Blooming Grove boy remarked on their size, but another little fellow opined:

"They can't play over 11 at a time."

And that apparently was the Lions slogan, for they whim-whammed the tough Laddies all over the lot—they stopped drive after drive—they did not have an offense that would penetrate the tough defense of the Laddies with any degree of consistency, but they rocked-and-socked the Laddies, and those seven kids in the line would dig a little deeper, hit a little harder, and otherwise piled up the State Home offense time after time.

Jordan, fullback of the Lions, set State Home back early in the first period with a 44-yard punt out of bounds and a few minutes later a quick-kick finally settled down on the State Home 4 after traveling 62 yards from the line of scrimmage. It took the Laddies almost a half to overcome this disadvantage, plus the scrapping of the West Navarro crew. Nothing but praise for the losers was heard, even from the State Home enthusiasts as they trudged out of Garitty Field.

State Home again presented a well-knit offense and defense, with Tabor, Rawls and Downey the leading ball-luggers. The line was immovable for most purposes.

Lads Made Yardage

State Home rolled up plenty of yards, but Blooming Grove's defense tightened perceptibly after the danger zone was reached. The visitors used only one substitute—that while one of the 11 iron men was getting a hand bandaged. State Home kept many fresh substitutes going into the melee from time to time.

Tabor unleashed a 30-yard jaunt in the first period to get to midfield, but after Staggs recovered the Lad fumble on the 33, Jordan kicked 62 to the State Home 5-yard zone.

The winner scored once in the second period after a sustained aerial and ground drive that featured two sensational offensive plays. Starting on their own 33, Downey caught a 5-yard pass over the center of the line and scampered 27 before he was pulled down on the Blooming Grove 23. Rawls sprinted 21 to the 2 before he was forced out and on the next play crashed over for the touchdown and Carpenter's punt from placement was between the uprights to make the score read, 7-0, at the half.

The State Home pep squad and band executed fine drills during the intermission and both schools cheering sections encouragegd their favorites throughout the game.

Pass Settles Issue

State Home struck early in the third period. On the first play following the kick-off, A. Herrington, Lad end, gathered in a pass and sprinted to a 68-yard touchdown. The point was missed.

Blooming Grove's only first down from scrimmage came in the third on a 10-yard pass from Jordan to McGraw, end.

The final score came in the fourth when Downey crashed over from the 7 after the drive was inaugurated on the Blooming Grove 46-yard stripe, with Carpenter again converting from placement.

ARMY PRISON TRAIN'S GUARDS MAKE ESCAPE EXTREMELY DIFFICULT

SANTA MARIA, Calif., Oct. 20.—(AP)—Passengers of the Army's transcontinental prison train "Hell Run" are lodged today in quarters from which escape would be "extremely difficult."

The 141 tough army prisoners, transported from Greenhaven, N. Y. to the disciplinary barracks at nearby Camp Cooke, made the trip a nightmare for their guards with unruliness, escapes and attempted escapes.

Seven escaped in Missouri, Kansas and Colorado. Six were recaptured, one being shot seriously. One man, James D. Anders, 21, of Jamestown, N. Y., made good his escape and is being hunted in Kansas. Scores of attempts to escape from the train were made, every time it slowed down, officers said. Several were shot and wounded by guards.

But Col. Wade D. Killen of Salt Lake City, train commander from there westward, said the trip was without serious incident from Salt Lake City here after the guard was increased to 52 officers and men.

Thrift Tip From a Star

By BETTY CLARKE
AP Newsfeatures Beauty Editor.

Not being able to get to a beauty parlor is no excuse for not looking pretty, says lovely Ann Jeffreys, Hollywood movie star. Blonde Ann ought to know, because she is a very well-groomed and she never goes to a beauty parlor. She says:

BEST TRESSED . Movie star Ann Jeffreys is her own hairdresser.

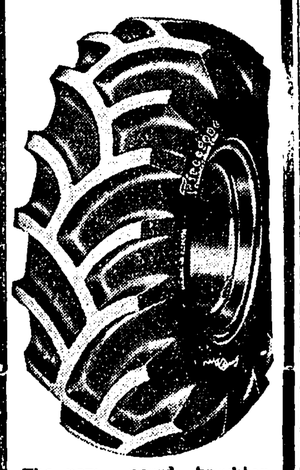

"Movie stars must appear glamorous at all times and in spite of the fact that most fans think acting is a cinch, it is a strenuous life. There is little time for social engagements or extra-curricular activities—except between pictures. When I played in 'Return of the Badmen' I sometimes had to get up at 4 a. m. to get to the set on time. That is why I must plan wisely the little time that is left out of a long work day."

Ann has a set routine for her beauty chores. Originally she bought a great big electric drier (the kind they use in hairdressing establishments) because she never could get her hair arranged in beauty salons the way she liked it. Now she's decided it has been a good investment and she has "fallen in love" with the idea of doing her own hair. Sometimes she does it every night.

While she is under the hair drier she does her manicure and applies cold cream to her face, covering her eyebrows. When her hair is dry she tweezers her cleam-softened brows, gives herself a facial and, if she needs it, a pedicure.

The time spent under the drier at home is never wasted. Ann finds she can do her mending, write letters and do other little home chores in comfort.

German Doctor Of El Paso Jailed For Deportation

DALLAS, Oct. 20—(AP)—Dr. Wolfgang Ebell, former El Paso physician and surgeon, was held in the Dallas county jail today awaiting deportation to Germany.

The German doctor was convicted in 1942 on a spy conspiracy indictment.

Immigration Officer R. L. Ryle placed Ebell in the Dallas jail Saturday. He had been brought from the Seagoville federal correctional institution where he had finished serving a sentence, originally set at seven years.

Dr. Ebell pleaded guilty June 22, 1942, in El Paso Federal court to a conspiracy indictment alleging acts of espionage. The indictment asserted that Dr. Ebell and others made trips into Mexico with vital information regarding American morale, this country's attitude toward the rise of Hitler and its seeming inability to wage war as seen in those early days.

The court also rescinded naturalization papers given him earlier.

What's Granny Got That We Haven't Got?

By ADELAIDE KERR
Ap Newsfeatures Writer

Evelyn Ardis Whitman gets a blue ribbon on two counts.

First, the has made a contribution to the thinking of the times in a book just out entitled: "I'm Tired of Grandma!" It takes a walloping sock at the belief, frequently and wistfully quoted by 20th Century males, that Grandma had more "stuff" as a wife, mother, citizen and individual than her granddaughter does today. In 50,000 words it builds up a stout case in support of Miss Whitman's thesis that 20th Century Women work harder, accomplish more and, at their best, are more useful to their generation than grandmother ever was.

Among others, she makes these points: Grandma didn't do all the hard work to be done in homes on her time. She had a maid and often women relatives living with her. As a home-maker the modern intelligent woman far outstrips grandma. Her standards of cleanliness, interior decoration, order, efficiency and child care are far ahead of anything grandma dreamed of. Moreover she engages in activities of citizenship, wage-earning and politics which grandmother did not even attempt. "I'm Tired of Grandma" is a noteworthy contribution to the defense of modern women who have been bitterly and extensively criticized since the war.

Second, Miss Whitman (who is Mrs. Owen Rumsey) daughter of

EVELYN WHITMAN . . .
She's tired of Grandma

a Nova Scotia parson, wife of a New England high school teacher and mother of two teen-agers, embodies in her own life many of the points she makes to build up her thesis. She keeps house for her family without help, bakes the pies and cookies they love, writes, does some part-time teaching gives some civic service to her Connecticut community and is active in the League of Women Voters.

During the war she handled an eight-hour factory job for one summer, ran the family victory garden, canned 300 jars of fruit and vegetables a year and did some airplane spotting in addition to her housewife and mother chores. So when in 1945 a national magazine lamented that the country could not "draft grandma" and draw on that lady's superior abilities to aid in the wartime emergency, "granddaughter Whitman," sputtering mad took herself to her typewriter and h' it a few resounding thwacks. The result was a magazine article, "I'm Tired of Grandma," which caused a lot of comment and brought down a great deal of wrath on its author's head. But it also brought an order from Bobbs-Merrill, New York publisher, for a book by the same name.

Miss Whitman, still smarting from the arrows shot in her direction by incensed readers of her articles, was inclined to hesitate But her husband insisted that she do the book. She wrote it in four months, working between eight a. m. and noon. She says that without any comment her husband assumed the family dishwashing for that period, and that he has been extremely interested in her work.

Any 20th Century denizen disturbed about the home life of women who work should see the warm glow in Evelyn Whitman Rumsey's grey eyes when she speaks of her husband, their children, and the little house with apple trees in the front yard which is home. She is a small woman, with rosy, fresh skin framed in silver-shot hair.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

(By The Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Selected steels, rails, motors, oils and special issues swung upward in today's stock market on the sixth successive session of better than a million shares although late mild liquidation reduced most extreme gains running to 2 or more points.

The ticker was busy from the start with sizable blocks expanding volume. Slowdowns appeared now and then as accounts were trimmed by cautious operators. While assorted losers persisted at the close, the plus column held a wide majority. Turnover of around 1,800,000 shares was one of the best in the past six months.

Enthusiasm cooled a trifle when American Woolen sagged in the wake of a disappointing third quarter net statement. Decca records weakened in response to the Petrillo ban against recorded music.

In front, a number of 1947 peaks, were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown Sheet, Chrysler, General Motors, Union Pacific, Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Great Northern Railway, Goodrich, Food Machinery, Mullins Mfg., Armour, Seaboard Oil, United Merchants, Douglas Aircraft, Deere, J. I. Case, Allied Chemical, United Air Lines, American Smelting, Montgomery Ward and Owens-Illinois.

A few railway loans were strengthened by supreme court decisions but most bonds were indifferent.

Grain Sets Record

CHICAGO, Oct. 20.—(AP)—A new high since 1917 was established by wheat futures on the Board of Trade today when the December contract sold at $3.07 a bushel.

Buying was based upon a hike in the government flour buying price, reports that Eastern bakers were making inquiries for flour and continued dry weather in the Southwestern winter wheat belt.

The strength of wheat caused some buying of other grains, but corn showed a tendency to lag behind the market because of favorable crop curing weather and price decline foir live hogs.

In the spot market No. 3 hard wheat sold at $3.11, a new high since 1920, when the record of $3.50 was made in the cash market.

Wheat closed 4 3-4 to 6 3-4 higher. December $3.06 3-4 $3.07, corn was 2 1-2 to 3 cents higher, December $2.35 $2.35 1-4, oats were 1 3-4 to 1 7-8 higher, December $1.21 3-4 5-8.

Today's peak for wheat compared with an all-time high of $3.25 made on May 11, 1917. On only three days in the Board's nearly 100 years of activity has wheat sold higher than today—on May 9 May 10 and May 11, 1917.

New York Cotton Table

NEW YORK, Oct. 20.—(AP)—Cotton futures were firm today on Board of Trade and outside buying. The good demand for cotton textiles and prospects for tight supplies later in the season influenced the buying.

Covering against sales of cotton to the government also accounted for a substantial part of the demand. It was estimated that an additional 15,000 bales or more have been covered in futures against the recent CCC purchase of some 115,000 bales for Japan.

Futures closed 35 cents to $1.25 a bale higher than the previous close.

CORSICANA BAPTIST ASSOCIATION CLOSES SESSIONS FRIDAY

DR. E. D. HEAD SPEAKS AT THURSDAY EVENING MEETINGS AT CHURCH

BY PAUL MOORE
Daily Sun Staff.

Closing sessions of the thirty-eighth annual session of the Corsicana Baptist association were held this afternoon at the First Baptist church. The WMU meetings ended Thursday afternoon.

Dr. E. D. Head, president of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, was the principal speaker at the Thursday evening sessions following a number of important reports and business matters. Rev. L. O. Sluder, pastor of the Powell and Roane churches, brought the annual sermon Friday morning, while Dr. Ray Summer, Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, closed the Friday afternoon session.

The Rev. Jack Goff, pastor of the Northside Baptist church here, vice moderator, presided in the absence of Dr. E. R. Page, moderator, of Kerens. Dr. Page is engaged in a revival meeting.

Reports Thursday Night.

Reports received Thursday night included Sunday School, Mrs. Wm. Bivin, Corsicana; Training Union Rev. H. Schnick, Corsicana, educational director, Northside Baptist church; C. O. Ferguson, Corsicana, Brotherhood; Tom L. Tyson, Corsicana, Buckner's Orphans Home.

Dr. Head brought a missionary message, pointing out a basic and eternal challenge of why we should be wholeheartedly and joyously missionaries.

Stating that the deep and underlying need of the world was the saving of the souls of men, the president of the seminary referred to the world as being hungry, sick and heartbroken, needing help, but the main need to help the bodies and minds is to get to their souls.

"Men are in the grip of sin, lost, and exposed to the wrath of God," Dr. Head asserted and then pointed out recent examples of higher education, science, etc., without God as "brute totalitarianism," that brought forth concentration camps with all their horrors and suffering.

Obligation Seen.

"Men of themselves are lost," Dr. Head added.

The minister declared that it was our inescapable obligation to carry the one remedy to bless and help the world, and it is criminal if we don't help—and he likened the shirking of responsibility of carrying Christ to those in need as a person declining to help carry out belongings of a neighbor if his house in burning.

Considerable emphasis was placed on the responsibility of "my brother's keeper" regardless of where he lives.

Dr. Head stressed the great commission delivered by Jesus as he commanded his followers to carry the Gospel to all of the world.

Missionary Message.

Stating that we are now in the atomic age, the speaker pointed out the necessity that the right person be at the controls for atomic energy—suggesting that if Jesus is at the controls, everything will be right.

In closing his missionary message, Dr. Head declared that it takes Christ to save the world.

Reports due Friday included: Rev. M. O. Cheek, Waco, district missions; Rev. D. Geddie, Corsicana, association missions; Rev. C. C. Ellis, Frost, co-operative program; Mrs. A. M. Estes, Corsicana, hospitals; Mrs. Miller Reid, Blooming Grove, WMU.; Rev. J. B. Ousley, Corsicana, minister's retirement; Rev. Schnick, treasurer's report; Rev. Goff, endowment report; Dr. J. I. Cartlidge, in memoriam; Rev. R. J. Fletcher, civic righteousness; and various committee reports.

JUNIOR PANTHERS LACE STATE HOME GREENIES, 26 TO 6

K. STEGALL RETURNS OPENING KICK-OFF 85 YARDS FOR TOUCHDOWN

The Junior High Panther gridders evened their score with the State Home Greenies Thursday night, trouncing the junior Lads 26-6 on Tiger Field before fans that half-expected to see the Panthers on the short end of the score.

The Panthers set the Greenies back on their heels when they returned the opening kick-off for a touchdown, and scored again before the half ended to lead the Greenies 13-0. The Panthers added 13 more points in the second half, while the Greenies were getting their lone touchdown.

Kenneth Stegall started off the Panther scoring, receiving the State Home kick-off and galloping 85 yards to a touchdown as his mates provided the blocking. Bobby Malcom's placement was good and the Panthers led 7-0. From that point the locals were never in danger of losing.

Onstott Scores

Tony Onstott scored for the Panthers in the same quarter, skirting right end for 30 yards and a touchdown following a sustained drive by his mates. The kick for point was wide. There was no scoring in the second quarter, but the half ended with the Panthers in possession of the ball on the Greenies' 10 yard marker.

Coming back early in the third quarter, Dwayne Nutt, who called a cagy game at quarterback, flipped a pass to Robert Barnes and the end went 38 yards for another score. Tony Onstott ran for the extra point that made the score 20-0.

Soon after, the Greenies went into action for their lone touchdown. Floyd Forrester skirted end for 29 yards and the count after the State Home boys had driven from midfield with some deceptive T formation plays.

Blue Gallops 88 Yards

Aubrey Blue climaxed the game in the final period with a thrilling 88-yard touchdown gallop up the east sidelines, virtually unassisted after he left his own line of scrimmage. Robert Barnes' kick for point was wide.

The Panthers line showed much improvement over the previous game with Mexia. Although one of their starting guards, James Matthews, could not see action because of injuries, the forward wall lost little of its luster. Particularly impressive was the work of the tackles and ends, although the center of the line also did commendable work. The Panther interference on the whole was good.

Coaches J. H. Compton and Bill Hay were pleased with the showing of the Juniors, and are confident that they have found the right combination to use in the remaining games on the Panther schedule.

SENATOR J. E. TAYLOR WILL BE SPEAKER AT TMA LUNCHEON HERE

The Texas Manufacturers Association, of which Sen. James E. Taylor of Kerens is public relations director, is planning a luncheon here at 12:15 p. m. next Monday, according to letters which were being sent out by the Corsicana Chamber of Commerce this morning.

Public announcement some weeks ago of Sen. Taylor's acceptance of the post he holds with the association precipitated a lawsuit to oust him, it being the contention that he "could not serve two masters."

Letters inviting Corsicana businessmen and manufacturers to the luncheon, slated for the Navarro Hotel, were to go into the mails during the day, according to chamber officials. They bore places for the signatures of J. N. Edens Fred H. Harvey, Jr., chairman of the industrial committee.

Sen Taylor will speak.

Also on the program is Dan Dansby Jr., regional manager of Dallas, who will discuss the program of the association.

"The Chamber of Commerce industrial committee is highly interested in activities for the benefit of the manufacturer and the businees interests, and takes this opportunity to work with T. M. A. and extend you this luncheon invitation," the letter said in part.

Sen. Taylor's association with the T. M. A. immediately led to a request by Representatives George O. Nokes and Jerry Stockard of this district and two other representatives, that he resign the state senator's job.

Later Robert V. Yarber filed suit to oust him, but the senator won in the trial court here.

Professional Ball Player Discharged From Local Hospital

J. B. Hendricks, 741 West Park, professional baseball player, was discharged from the P. and S. Hospital during the week end after eight days' hospitalization for serious burns on both hands and arms.

Attending physicians have little hope that he will ever play baseball again, a most discouraging verdict to the athlete who was pitcher and utility performer with the Waco Dons of the Big State league the past season. He has played a number of years, including hitches with the Texas league clubs before going to the armed forces.

Hendricks, a product of the sandlots of Mt. Calm, Hill county, Texas, was burned when gasoline in which he was washing grease from his arms and hands at a local garage, became ignited. He is still bandaged and unable to use his hands.
